Guest Speaker Bios / Links:

- Dr. Greg Finstad – Program Manager UAF Reindeer Research, Associate Professor of Range Ecology. Greg received his B.S. in Wildlife Management in 1981 followed by a Ph.D. in Range Ecology in 2008, both from the University of Alaska Fairbanks. Greg has been working and living with Native Alaskans for over 30 years. As the manager for the UAF Reindeer Research Program, he has worked with the herders of the Seward Peninsula for 25 years and is the driving force behind the collaborative nature of the program. Greg recently developed the High Latitude Range Management Certification program operated out of the UAF Northwest Campus in Nome. An avid runner, Greg has completed several marathons including the Boston Marathon this year.
- Dr. Jessy Coltrane – Area Biologist (Anchorage), Alaska Dept. of Fish and Game. Jessy grew up the daughter of an oil company pilot in Saudi Arabia. She went to boarding school in New Jersey then college in North Carolina and Florida. She worked as a biologist in Central America and South America for about seven years before she moved to Alaska. She became the city's area biologist in March of 2011 after nine summers of work with the former area biologist Rick Sinnott who retired. Jessy received a Ph.D. in Wildlife Biology in 2012 from the University of Alaska Fairbanks for her work in porcupine physiology. She is also an avid runner in her spare time.

- Dr. Talis Colberg – Director of UAA MatSu College. Chancellor Fran Ulmer appointed Talis as the tenth director of the Matanuska-Susitna College in August of 2010. Talis is a third generation Alaskan born in the Territory of Alaska in 1958. He graduated from Palmer High School in 1976, Pacific Lutheran University in 1979 and Pepperdine University School of Law in 1983. He earned a Ph.D. in Northern Political History and Culture from the University of Alaska Fairbanks in 2008. Governor Palin appointed him as the twentieth Attorney General for Alaska in 2006. He has also been twice elected to the Matanuska-Susitna Borough Assembly and twice elected as borough mayor. He has been president of both the Alaska State Fair Board and the Palmer Rotary Club. In addition he served twice as Chair of the Alaska State Humanities Forum and is a member of the Board of Directors of the Alaska SeaLife Center. He has been a history instructor at the college since 1992. He continues to teach history while serving as director.
- Shonti Elder – Fiddler, singer, and teacher in Wasilla, Alaska. Shonti was born to American parents in India who chose a common Sanskrit name for her which means “peace”. She was in the Oberlin College (Ohio) orchestra, and upon moving to Boston for graduate school, she and a friend discovered bluegrass music at a festival in Union Grove, North Carolina. She and some friends went to Alaska for a planned six week vacation in 1977, but she’s still here. Shonti became a folk music program host on KSKA Anchorage Public Radio (FM 91.1) in 1978, and has had a program ever since. Her current show is Traveling Music on Sunday afternoons. In 1994 she went back to school and switched careers to become a public school music teacher. For the last ten years, Shonti’s taught choir and orchestra in the Eagle River area. She has made two recordings of original songs with her Fairbanks friend Will Putman called Northwords and Homefires.
- Bill Collins – Research Wildlife Biologist, Alaska Dept. of Fish and Game. Bill received a B.S. in Range Management from Brigham Young University in 1974. He then completed his M.S. in 1977 and Ph.D. in 1979 from Utah State University. Both degrees were in Range Science. He worked for the University of Alaska Fairbanks as an instructor and professor from 1980 – 1987 where he developed an undergraduate course in range management. In 1988 he joined the Alaska Dept. of Fish and Game. Bill mainly works on moose and caribou nutritional issues using captive animals based at the UAF Matanuska Experiment Farm. His unusual solutions to problems lead one former boss to refer to him as “MacGyver with a Ph.D.”. For fun, Collins used to compete in wilderness races.
